

The Tyler House was built in 1931 in the Rockville Heights subdivision. It is a good example of English Cottage style architecture. This stucco frame building features a 1-1/2 story gable entrance, typical of this architectural style. A granite mill stone is inset at the driveway entrance to the side door. A single car detached garage dating from the 1930s also exemplifies the entry of the automobile as a prominent element in suburban living. Frank and Ruby Tyler moved here in 1935.
